Uses of "Dead Dogs."

Dead dogs have their uses as well as live ones, and we doubt not it the facts were known that as a large portion of mankind, is benefitted by the one as the other. The enactments of our official bodies, which yearly doom so many of these animals to death, may therefore | in with the seed, have produced most remarkacially when it becomes generally known to purity and fineness in the market. what varied, profitable and excellent uses the carcasses may be applied. With the desire to extend this information as much as possible, at a period, too, when so many of our dogs are to die, we publish the following, with the recommendation that shme energetic man obtain a monopoly of all the dead dogs of the city: What use can be made of a dead dog? It can be made for a multitude of useful or luxurious purposes. Name one. A part of it may be put into a lady's smelling bottle.

Under what form? Either as a delicious perfume or as smelling salts. How can it be converted into a perlume?-

Glycerine is largely used by perfumers for their choicest perfumes. How is glycerine obtained from a dead dog? By mixing soda with the boilings of the fat and bones.

What does this produce? A sweet substance, called glycerine, or the sugar of fat. How can the putrefying flesh of a dog be converted into smelling-salts? Merely by adding to it a little hydrochloric acid.

What further use can be made of a dead dog? You can wash your face and hand hands with a part of it. How so? Part of the glycerine may be used for scenting soap, or made into glycerine soap. What other use can a dead dog be put to? A lady going to court may put a little on her cheeks or lips, to improve their hue. How can this be managed? Part of the glycerine may be mixed with carmine, and sold for lip-salve or delicate tint for the cheeks. dead dog. It may be brought to the table as a delicacy, and eaten with much relief

How can this be done? From the skin, tendons and bones, gelatine can be obtained; and this gelatine may be made into jelly.

What other delicacy can be made of it? A part can be put into our tea or coffee, tarts or puddings.

How can this be done? Sugar may be refined by being strained through its burnt bones. What else can be done with a dead dog? A gentleman can appear in part of it at a ball or on promenade. How so? Part of the skin may be made into boots, and part into riding gloves.

ORIGIN.-"It is only shallow-minded pretenders who make distinguished origin a matter of personal merit, or obscure origin a matter of personal reproach. A man who is not ashamed of himself need not be as hamed of his early condition. It did happen to me to be born in a log cabin, raised among the snow-drifts of New Hampshire, at a period so early that when the smoke first rose from its rude chimney and curled over the frozen hills, there was no similar evidence of a white man's habitation between it and the settlements on the rivers of Canada. Its remains still exist. I make it an annual visit. I carry my children to it to teach them the hardships endured by the generation before them. I love to dwell on the tender recollections, the kindred ties, the early affections, and the narration and incident which mingle with all I know of this family abode. I weep to think that none of those who inhabited it are now among the living; and if ever I fail in affectionate veneration for him who raised it, and defended it against savage violence and destruction, cherished all domestic comforts beneath its roof, and, through the fire and blood of seven years of revolutionary war, shrunk from no toil, no sacrifice to serve his country and to raise his shildren to a condition better than his own, may my name and the name of my posterity you upon such manufacture, which undoubtedbe blotted from the memory of mankind."-Daniel Webster. THE beautiful extract below is from the pen of Hon. Geo. S. Hilliard:-"I confess that increasing years brings with them an increasing respect for men who do not succeed in life, as those words are commonly used. Heaven is said to be a place for those who have not succeeded on earth: and it is surely true that celestial graces do not best thrive and bloom in Has resumed his business at he old stand, the hot blaze of worldly prosperity. Ill success sometimes arises from a superabundance of qualities in themselves good—from a conscience too sensitive, a taste too fastidious, a retiring. I will not go so far as to say, with a living poet, that "the world knows nothing of the greatest men," but there are forms of greatness, or at least excellence, which and make no sign; there are martyrs miss the palm but not the stake; heroes without a laurel, and conquerors with distance of the united States for the out a laurel, and conquerors without a triumph!"

ADVERTISING.—In New York, the other day, we met a country merchant, an old friend. He spoke of having to return to that city again in a few weeks to buy goods. We enquired why he did not purchase them in Richmond. "Your merchants have'nt got them," said he. We told him he was mistaken; that he had not been to Richmond since the war. "No," said he, "I have'nt been there since the war, but I read the Richmond papers regularly, and I see very few such goods as I want, adverti sed." We have no comment to make upon this incident, and only add that this gentleman is a representative man of his class.-Rich. Enquirer.

Solitary Habits of Solitary Habits of Disorders arising from Solitary Habits of Youth-secret and solitary practices more fatato their victims than the song of Syrens to the Mariners of Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage, &c., impossible. YOUNG MEN,

Especially, who have become the victims of solitary vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an ultimely grave thousands of Young Men of the most excellent talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senators with the thunders of eloquence, or waked to estacy the living lyre, may call with full confidence. MARRIAGE.

Married Persons, or Young Men comtempla-ting marriage, being aware of Physical Weak-ness, Organic Debility, Deformities, speedily He who places himself under the care of Dr J. may religiously conflde in his honor as a gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a physician. ORGANIC WEAKNESS Immediately cured and full vigor restored. This distressing affection, which renders life miserable and marriage impossible, is the penalty paid by the victims of impropriety .-Young persons are too apt to commit ex-cesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny understands the subject will pretend to deny that the power of procreation is lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent? Besides being deprived of the pleasure of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms of both body and mind arise. The System becomes deranged, the Physical and Mental Functions Weakened, Loss of Procreative Power, Nervous Irritability Dysneysia Palpitation of the Heart. Indigestion, Constitutional Debility, and Wasting of the Frame, Consumption, Decay and Death DR. JOHNSON, Member of the Royal College of Surgeons London, Graduate of one of the most eminent Colleges in the United States, and the greater whose life has been spent in als of London, Paris, Philadelphia, and else where, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known, many troubled with ringing in the head and ears when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended sometimes with derangement of mind, ty, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the Heart, Indi-were cured immediately. TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE.

Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgence and solitary habits, which ruin both body and mind, unfitting them for either business, study, socioty or marriage. These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, viz. Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in ta-Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Neryous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption, &c.

Mentally.—The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded. Loss of Memory, Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evil

Forebodings, Averson to Society, Self Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced: Thousands of persons of all ages can now judge what is the cause of their declining health losing their vigor, becoming weak, pale, nervous and emacated, having a singular appearance about the eyes, Cough, and Symptoms of Consumption. YOUNG MEN,

Who have injured themselves by a certain practice, indulged in, a habit frequently learned from evil companions, or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt. even when asleep, and, if not cured, renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately. What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, the pride of his parents, should be snatched from all prespects and enjoyments of life by the consequence of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging in a certain sucret habit. Such persons must, before contem-

MARRIAGE, effect that a sound mind and body are the repet necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, without these the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage; the prospect hourly darkens to the view, the mind becomes shadowed with despair and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with your own.

DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE. When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds that he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease it too often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame or dread of discovery deters him from applying to those, who from education and respectability, can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease make their appearance, such as ulcerated screthroat, discussed nose, necturnal pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, deafness, nodes on the shin-bones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extremities extremities, progressing with frightful rapidity till at last the palate of the mouth or th. zaca of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commissera-tion, till death puts a period to his dreadful suf forings, by sending him to "that Undiscovered Country from whence no traveller returns. '
It is a MELANCHOLY FACT that then
